

HAS IT SOAKED IN? THE CAREFUL CROSSING CAMPAIGN.

Despite the heavy publicity that has already been given the subject of Grade Crossing Accidents since June 1st, the date on which this campaign was inaugurated, quite a number of fatalities have occurred. In one case alone six human lives were snuffed out, simply because the driver failed to Stop, Look and Listen before attempting to cross the tracks. A motor vehicle in the hands of a careful driver is an agency for safety. It can be driven up close to the railway track and stopped in perfect safety, differing from horse-drawn vehicles in this respect. But if an improper person is at the wheel, driving a car is more dangerous than making dynamite.

Recently an automobile driver tried to beat a railroad train to a crossing. The result was a wrecked train, a smashed up automobile and a number of people killed. And until safety becomes the uppermost thought in the minds of persons driving cars, no improvement in the situation can be expected.

Nobody can read the daily accounts of fatal accidents at NUMBER 6.

DEMURRERS OF APPOINTING BOARD ARE OVERRULED BY PEARCE; APPEAL TAKEN

CASE OF CARNLEY AGAINST APPOINTING BOARD IS HEARD HERE TUESDAY BY JUDGE PEARCE; DEMURRERS OVERRULED; BOARD MEMBERS APPEAL; CASE STANDS SAME AS BEFORE HEARING.

Judge H. A. Pearce, of Dothan, tried the case of J. A. Canney against the Appointing Board of Coffee County at Elba on last Tuesday, July 25. This suit was for the purpose of compelling the Appointing Board to appoint the list of managers and election officers selected by the Democratic Executive Committee at its meeting on July 16th, which was called with less than a day's notice. M. A. Owen, chairman presided at the meeting, and Bill Baker acted as secretary. At this meeting a committee of five was selected to name the election officers with Bally as secretary of this committee. They returned to a room and in a very few moments returned with a list of managers and clerks and returning officers, already prepared. This list was certified to the appointing board, which doubted the authority of the committee and appointed officers, many of whom were not on the list returned by the committee.

It was ruled by Judge Pearce that the appointing board should appoint the election officers selected by the committee. There was a long drawn out argument by the attorneys. The legal questions involved many of them, are new questions not yet decided by the supreme court.

An appeal to the Supreme Court was immediately taken by the Appointing Board. A supersedeas bond was filed, and approved by Judge Pearce, and the effect of this appeal is to leave the appointment of election officers made by the Appointing Board just as they stood prior to the ruling of Judge Pearce. In other words the managers, clerks and returning officers appointed by the Appointing Board on July 19th, will hold the primary in this county on August 8th.

By reason of the fact that Judge Foster was a candidate in this primary he was disqualified to try the case, and Judge Pearce was appointed in his place. Judge Pearce will be remembered as former Judge of the circuit court of this county, before the Legislature created the 20th Judicial Circuit. Judge Pearce has many warm friends in the county.

W. M. S. HAS ALL DAY MEETING AT DAMASCUS.

The Coffee County W. M. S. held an all day meeting at Damascus Church Friday. This being the young people's council, the greater part of the day was given to the young people's program. Very interesting features of the program were talks by Misses Louise Owen and Rebecca Byrd, of Enterprise, who have offered themselves for missionary service in China. Miss Wooly, of Auburn, who has been a student at Louisville, Ky., gave a very interesting description of The House Beautiful and of the activities of the students there.

At the noon hour a sumptuous dinner was served by the Damascus ladies.

After the afternoon short time was given to the W. M. S. ladies at which time the County President, Mrs. J. A. Canley, took charge. The attendance was awarded to the Kinston ladies. The meeting was closed by a consecration service.

MICKIE SAYS

THE FARMER'S RIGHT TO A JOYOUS EXISTENCE.

Of course the man on the farm lives more cheaply than the man in the town. It is not so easy for the farmer to spend money. There is not a 50-cent moving picture show inflicting his purse every night, there is no 50-cent ball game or $1 show almost constantly asking the patronage of himself and his family at the afternoon a thousand other things which are recorded as "necessary" expenses of town life are not found in the country.

But if the farmer spends less for the so-called advantages of modern life than townspeople spend, is that any reason why he should receive less for his day's work? Either should he not receive equal pay for equal work and be able to use his surplus in developing in the country a compensating and parallel system of advantages adapted to the conditions of rural life—public and private libraries, individual and community music, community meetings, places for music, sports, recreation, community drama, etc. In short the public must not assume that all the agencies for social pleasure are the peculiar right and privilege of the town worker, and that therefore no allowance need be made for such expenditures in the country. On the contrary the farmer must demand and get such wages as will enable him to realize upon the production of his farm the same standard of living as the town worker.

Among the inalienable rights that our revolutionary ancestors handed on as the heritage of every freeman are: "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." But to what extent, may we ask, has the pursuit of happiness been recognized as a right of the American farmer, the farmer's wife, and the farm children? Too often the farmer has been abused because—receiving a decent wage for once in his life during the World War and just after—he indulged in the purchase of a cheap flivver! And even the flivver in his case was two-thirds an agency of business, saving him and his family much valuable time by the quick trips to market, and only one-third an agency of pleasure—whereas a majority of town cars are almost exclusively pleasure cars.

Pine Level Farmer Is Seriously Shot

Montgomery, July 22.—Ben Wright, about 40 years old, a farmer, is at the Elba infirmary in a serious condition after being shot in the chest and arm by a neighbor, McCall, 33, an employee of the Reid Lumber Company of Selma, who is alleged to have shot him as a result of an argument at Pine Level early Friday night, is in the county jail. Wright was wounded in the abdomen.

Following the shooting McCall came to Montgomery and telephoned to the sheriff's office from the home of a friend on Holcomb street. He was taken to the jail by Chief Deputy Robert C. Phelps. McCall's shirt was ripped by a knife. Full details of the trouble were not available Friday night, but according to one report received at the county jail the two were said to have become involved in an argument regarding a girl.

Wright was shot one time. Soon after the shooting he was brought to Montgomery for surgical attention and at a late hour was still on the operating table at the hospital, according to attaches at the institution. The extent of his injuries was not known, but it was said at the hospital that he was in a serious condition.

No warrant had been sworn out in the case late Friday night. After reaching Montgomery, McCall telephoned to the sheriff's office and surrendered to the authorities. Both men are married, it is reported.

105 Pound Catfish Caught With Hook

John Harris, veteran Alabama river pilot, made the biggest hook catch known in local history early Thursday morning, when he landed a catfish weighing one hundred and five pounds.

The fish was landed near Magazine Point, about a half mile below Montgomery on the Alabama river. Mr. Harris attributes his success to the fact that he used a "left hand" hook and a cross-eyed worm.

Montgomery Man Killed By Sixteen Year Old Girl

Montgomery, July 21.—Cold in death, the body of A. Portis McKethen, 38, married, Union Station baggage agent, was found in a scalding spot near the Haynesville road six and one-half miles from Montgomery, early Thursday afternoon when officers went to the scene after pretty Mildred Brewer, 15, a cousin of the dead man's wife, appeared at police headquarters and reported the killing.

McKethen's body lay face upward, his head turned slightly to one side. The bullet entered at his temple and his life blood stood out on his face. Beside him was a revolver, with one chamber empty. A few feet away was his coat and hat and a woman's hat, believed to belong to the girl who surrendered.

Then there was a small dog stretched calmly on the ground a short distance from the man's body—perhaps an eye witness—that kept an innocent vigil while the girl rode to the police station in Montgomery.

Miss Brewer was brought to Montgomery in an automobile in which McKethen is said to have left her several hours before. It was driven by a negro porter at the depot, a chauffeur for McKethen.

Miss Brewer was detained at police headquarters after her alleged confession of the killing. Early Thursday night she was transferred to the county jail on a warrant charging murder. She maintained an unbroken silence, insofar as making any statement for publication in regard to the tragedy.

At police headquarters she declined to be interviewed by newspaper men and still refused to talk after being taken to jail.

It was a gruesome, staggering scene where the body was discovered, approximately 150 yards from the road to the rear of a negro church. A dim, winding path leading across a wire fence marked a part of the way toward the scene. For two hours or more the body remained in the isolated section of the woods. Because of the density of the growth the place is virtually obscured from view for any distance.

Sheriff's forces, the coroner, and others visited the scene after the report of the killing reached Montgomery. The officers removed a silver watch, a gold chain, keys and about $8.50 in money from the purses and pockets of the dead man. Letters and a magazine were also found. The contents of the letters were not made public.

Neither Coroner John J. Dill nor the other investigators made any statement that they threw light on the killing. The coroner said Thursday night that he was continuing his investigation in an effort to entirely clear the case, which caused rumors that the officers may not be fully satisfied with the alleged explanation as to the manner in which McKethen met his death.

Miss Brewer was transferred from the police station to the jail by the sheriff. Her mother or accompanied her to the compartment in the jail. Two revolvers are held in the case. Miss Brewer is said to have delivered one pistol to the police when she arrived in Montgomery. It was a 32 calibre.

The killing apparently occurred about 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. C. V. Bond, a farmer living a short distance away, said he heard the report of a revolver in the police station in Montgomery.

The girl when brought before Desk Sergeant T. E. Williamson at police headquarters Thursday afternoon, stated that her name was Mildred Willis Brewer. The police official entered this name on the police blotter and gave her age as 15 years.

The girl is known, it is said, among her relatives as "Minty" Brewer. She is the granddaughter of the late Col. W. L. Brewer, former congressman from this district. Her mother who was formerly Miriam Brewer, who married the late Ware Brown who was the father of the girl, who is held on a charge of murder.

The mother is now Mrs. Frank Richardson, and resides on the Haynesville road, about a mile from the scene of the shooting.

FLORIDA MAN IS FOUND WITH HEAD SPLIT BY AN AXE.

Sebastian, Fla., July 18.—Nathan Pryor, an eighty-four year old reclus, was found in his cabin today with his head split open by an axe.

Robbery was apparently the cause for the murder, Hamp Ford, a negro suspect, is being held in jail pending questioning.

Three Women Held On Murder Charges

Jackson, Miss., July 22.—Mrs. Henry Bond, wife, and Mrs. Lizza Lott and Mrs. Hatie Sledge, sisters of Henry Bond, condemned murderer, who killed Jailer Russell Harris in the county jail here last Tuesday, were tonight charged with murder and their preliminary trial set for early next week. Bond was also killed by Harris.

The three women, according to the police, have confessed that they figured in the shooting with the pistol with which he shot the jailer in an attempt to escape. Bond was to have been hanged yesterday for having participated in the killing of two prohibition agents last year. Mrs. Bond and Mrs. Lott were arrested near Clinton on the day of the jail shooting. Mrs. Sledge was taken into custody yesterday in Green county and brought here today. Tonight they told the story of the alleged conspiracy, according to a statement given out by the police.

TROOPS ARE MOBILIZED IN BIRMINGHAM.

Montgomery, July 26.—On advice from Sheriff J. C. Hartsfield of Jefferson county that the strike situation there was about to get beyond his control Governor Thomas E. Kilby Tuesday afternoon ordered out three companies of guardsmen. The guardsmen ordered out are 1 company, rifle unit, 167th infantry, 3 officers and 75 enlisted men; 1 company, machine gun unit, 167th infantry, 3 officers and 65 enlisted men; headquarters troop, 23rd cavalry division, 3 officers and 45 enlisted men.

The three companies, all of which are from Birmingham, were ordered into their armories with full equipment. They will remain in their armories and make no attempt towards guard duty unless the situation at Birmingham calls for drastic action.

Colonel Hartley A. Moon, adjutant general, as Governor Kilby's personal representative left Montgomery for Birmingham at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by airplane, to make a personal inspection of the situation and report to the governor the exact status.

In an informal statement regarding the order for the mobilization of troops in Birmingham Governor Kilby said: "I regret the necessity for the mobilization of the troops. I regret even a small number of men must be forced to give up their civil occupations and spend even a short time in the military service. I regret that the people of the state must be forced at this time to pay out some amount from the public treasury for the maintenance of troops.

"But lives and property must be protected. The state of Alabama owes this duty to all persons who come within the borders of the state. It matters not whose lives or whose property is involved. This responsibility is upon the state and must be met. It is as much the duty of the state to protect the lives and property of striking men as the lives and property of railroad operators and their employees when they are assailed.

"I trust the mobilization of the companies in the Birmingham armory will be the end of the activity of the National Guard. Surely this strike will not be carried so far as to force further action. But regardless of the length of the strike and regardless of the issues involved, the state will meet its responsibility and furnish full assurance that all lives and property will be made safe."

Negro, 120 Years Old, Dies Near Spring Hill

Troy Messenger says:

Jim Chapman, commonly known as "Uncle" Jim, an aged negro, 120 years of age, died near Spring Hill Monday, on the Pick Wilson place. He was an old slave, having been brought to this country from Africa by a slave ship, and was sold on the block at Pensacola while a young boy.

He was six feet tall and had never worn a shoe in his life. He had always used tobacco. For years he worked around a saw mill below Spring Hill for Mr. Asa D. Lowery, and was able to work an mill about eighteen months before his death. Most of his life was spent in the Wheeler, Gibson and Wilson communities near Centey Ridge.

In 1878 Mr. Lowery made a trip to Florida, and saw "Uncle" Jim's "old mistus," who was an old lady then. She stated that her father had bought old Jim off the block from a slave ship when he was a small boy. Her records proved that at this time he was 76 years of age, which would have made him 120 at the time of his death.

During the Pike County Centennial in 1920 he was brought to Troy by Danny Boutwell, mail carrier on Route 5. He attracted much attention, and it was his boast while here that he had never broken any law, and had never been arrested. "Uncle" Jim was married soon after the Civil War. His wife was a slave, and was bought at Montgomery by Thomas W. Boutwell. She lived until a few years ago. "Uncle" Jim had lived a useful life and counseled his race to behave good. He was well liked and respected by all white people who knew him.
